

BATTLING THE BUGS: CYBERSECURITY DURING A PANDEMIC

Destructive and disruptive cyberattacks are on the rise as threat actors try to profit off of the COVID-19 outbreak. This includes not only cybercriminals but also nation-state actors seeking disruption of COVID-19 response efforts. Hackers are also delivering targeted malware attacks, stealing confidential information and gaining access to information systems.

Read more about cybersecurity best practices help your organization secure its network and avoid misinformation here: <https://bit.ly/31YNTJA>.